Vol. 32, No. 1, Fall 2007

Letter From President Larry Estrada

The academic year 2006-2007 was momentous for NAES in that it was the first time that we as an organization sponsored both a national and international conference. Istanbul and New Paltz set the stage for members and conference participants to reflect upon those issues and concerns for ethnic based scholars that cut across regional and national lines. Turkish, American, African, Asian and European scholars were afforded the opportunity this past fall to interact with one another and to engage in lively discourse and debate while exploring together the embracing cultures and sights of Istanbul. The success of the Istanbul Conference was in large part facilitated and organized by Professor Asli Tekinay and her staff and faculty at Bogaziçi University, while special thanks go out to our own Board member, Dr. George Junne, as well as the President and Provost of Bogaziçi University for their overall support and backing.

This past spring, New Paltz, New York provided the venue for both a conference and summit that focused on issues centered on academic freedom and the campus politics of ethnic studies. Scholars from across the county and from abroad were able to interject their viewpoints and provide recent information as to how they are encountering resistance to or success in maintaining the tenets of academic freedom and open discourse within their respective academic settings. General consensus at the conference endorsed the fact that NAES must remain steadfast in its protection and assertion of scholars' rights as they pertain to freedom of speech and absolute safeguards for the free expression of ideas and artistic endeavors. Kudos go to Board member Linda Delgado and the campus administration of SUNY-New Paltz for hosting and providing us with a comfortable and hospitable setting for our Thirty-Fifth Annual National Conference and Summit.

Both of the conferences this past year strongly endorsed the concept that ethnic studies remains both a legitimate and necessary force in the addressing of contemporary and historical forces that have shaped our diverse communities and societies. So it is in this vein that we seek to continue this dialogue in 2008 in Atlanta, Georgia. This year's national conference, "The Politics of Ethnicity," will take place April 3-5, 2008 at the Westin Peachtree Plaza in Atlanta. The city of Atlanta is both a central and ideal setting to discuss many of the recent developments that have shaped the discourse of race and ethnicity. Special emphasis will be placed on themes and events that have contributed to the on-going struggle for Civil Rights and equity while including the recent debates on U.S. immigration policy and the 2008 U.S. presidential elections. We know that you will want to be an active participant at this conference and enjoy the warm southern hospitality of the Atlanta community!

As an organization, we remain committed to the inclusion of all scholarship that reflects upon diverse societies and cultures across professional and disciplinary boundaries. We

Funny Thing Happened on the Way to New Paltz...

As those of you who attended this year’s conference know, the National Office Staff didn’t make it to New Paltz due to bad weather in Chicago (the connecting city). Office Manager, Cecily Hazelrigg-Hernandez, her two student workers, Josefina Magaña and Christina Mooney, as well as Cecily’s two daughters, spent two days in a hotel in lovely Skokie, IL trying to find a plane either to New York or back to Seattle. It was a huge disappointment, especially after all of the work that had gone into the conference and it created all sorts of wrinkles in the conference itself. We sincerely appreciate all of the patience of the participants as those rough spots were smoothed out. Huge thanks also go to the incredible SUNY, New Paltz staff who stepped in at the last minute and replaced Cecily and the rest of the workers. We do not anticipate troubles like this next year (but will take direct flights to Atlanta, just in case) and hope to meet you all there!

POSITIONS AVAILABLE AT:

UCSD ETHNIC STUDIES DEPARTMENT
African-American Studies/Diaspora and Media/Communication

The Ethnic Studies Department at University of California, San Diego invites applications for an assistant professor position. We seek a scholar whose work provides critical perspectives on African Americans in a global and transnational context, or, more broadly, the African Diaspora. We particularly welcome expertise in media/communication and/or critical feminist studies. Applicants in any social science or humanities discipline are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must provide evidence of an original and generative research agenda, commitment to teaching, and ability to work in interdisciplinary urban studies and ethnic studies contexts. PhD preferred, but ABDs will be considered provided that the candidate can show substantial progress toward completion of the dissertation.

Applications accepted electronically at: <http://ethnicstudies.ucsd.edu> under "Faculty Recruitment" link. Submit electronic version of: application letter, resume, sample publications of no more than 50 pages, and names and addresses of three referees. Applicants also invited to submit summary of leadership efforts, especially those that contribute to diversity.

Complete applications received by October 1, 2007 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until position is filled for start date of 07/01/08. Salary based on published UC pay scales.

JOINT POST IN ETHNIC STUDIES DEPARTMENT (AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES) &
URBAN STUDIES & PLANNING PROGRAM

The Ethnic Studies Department and the Urban Studies & Planning Program at UCSD invite applications for a joint post; we seek a specialist in African American Studies from any discipline for appointment to a tenure track position as Assistant Professor of Ethnic Studies. Research expertise on urban politics is desirable, but not essential. Applicants in any social science or humanities discipline are encouraged to apply.

Applicants must provide evidence of an original and generative research agenda, commitment to teaching, and ability to work in interdisciplinary urban studies and ethnic studies contexts. PhD preferred, but ABDs will be considered provided that the candidate can show substantial progress toward completion of the dissertation.

Applications accepted electronically at: <http://ethnicstudies.ucsd.edu> under "Faculty Recruitment" link. # 36th Annual NAES Conference

The Politics of Ethnicity

Westin Peachtree Plaza

April 3-5, 2008 Atlanta, GA

On behalf of the National Association for Ethnic Studies, I am pleased to welcome you to Atlanta - or as some affectionately refer to it, Hot-lanta! The city of Atlanta is a popular conference site due to its mild temperatures and numerous tourist attractions. During the month of April, when most of the country is getting out of the muddy spring weather, we can expect great weather, good food, and lots of things to do and see. It has been a while since the NAES has held a conference in the south, and we thought it was time for a return. With the numerous colleges and universities in the Atlanta area, we look forward to a stimulating and thought-provoking meeting. Many people know of Atlanta due to its backdrop in Margaret Mitchell's Gone with the Wind, as the home of civil rights leader, Martin Luther King, Jr., and as the site of the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games. However, Atlanta has a history that encompasses much more than just these.

Anyone interested in history should make Atlanta a required destination spot. For Civil War buffs, there is the Atlanta Cyclorama, Kennesaw Mountain National Battlefield Park, and the Historic Oakland Cemetery. At the Cyclorama, visitors can learn about the 1864 Battle of Atlanta which is told through paintings and narrated dialogue. If you are interested in being outdoors for your history lesson of Atlanta, visit the Kennesaw Mountain National Park. This park, scene of the heaviest fighting during the Battle of Atlanta (Atlanta Campaign). On its 2884 acres, one can find cannon emplacements, monuments and hear the story of how over 5300 soldiers were killed over a three week period in June-July of 1864. At the Historic Oakland Cemetery, one can learn about the history of the cemetery and its connection to the Civil War. The cemetery grew in large part due to the civil war, but it also was the headquarters for a Confederate commander, and the location of a hanging of three Union soldiers. Atlanta also offers visitors the opportunity to visit its Atlanta History Center which has 32 acres of gardens, trails, and woodland areas. It has permanent and changing exhibitions that feature exhibits on African American heritage, the Civil War, and Southern folk art.

The Martin Luther King Jr. National Historic Site and Sweet Auburn District is known as home of the King family, the birthplace of Martin Luther King, Jr., home of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, and location of the King Tomb. A visit to the King Center and the bookstore are musts. For those who want to see a "contemporary" Atlanta, you are in for a treat. The conference site, the Westin Peachtree Plaza Hotel, is conveniently situated near Centennial Olympic Park and the Georgia Aquarium. Centennial Olympic Park offers the ability to relax and take a look at the cityscape. The Georgia Aquarium opened in 2001, is the world's largest aquarium and has become a favorite hot spot for both tourists and locals. If you are interested in finding out how one of the world's favorite beverages is made, a visit to The World of Coke is a must. A tour of the facility is just what you need to quench your thirst for knowledge. Atlanta is also famous for its shopping, whether in the historic Buckhead neighborhood (where the Governor's Mansion is located) or the Underground. Both offer different shopping experiences. Buckhead is home to fine dining restaurants, boutiques, antique galleries, and spas. The Underground is an underground street that houses eclectic shops, restaurants, and vending carts. Across from the Underground, one can visit the CNN Studio for a tour of the headquarters of CNN and Headline News.

CALL FOR PAPERS:

The Politics of Ethnicity

The National Association for Ethnic Studies invites abstracts/proposals for papers, panels, workshops, or media productions from people in all disciplines and interdisciplinary areas of the arts, business, social sciences, humanities, science and education on politics and ethnicity. Where are we now? What are our expectations for the next administration? How do politics affect us in all walks of life?

The conference will create a lively forum for the discussion of issues related to ethnic communities, including, but not limited to the following: citizenship and voting rights; affirmative action; women and men of color in politics; academic freedom, reproductive rights; religious freedom, globalization, nationalism and hegemony; government and individual freedom; politics and the media; war and peace; 2008 U.S. elections; political responses to global disasters; national and/or global immigration.

Two-hundred-fifty-word abstracts/proposals should be submitted by December 15, 2007, which relate to any aspect of the conference theme, with the participant's institutional affiliation and mailing address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail address. The abstract/proposal must indicate whether the presentation is an individual paper or a complete panel presentation and if a/v equipment is needed. Complete panel proposals must include abstracts and complete contact information for each individual presenter. All program participants must pay full conference registration and 2008 NAES membership dues. All abstracts must be sent electronically. Presenters are welcome to chair other panels but may only present one paper.

Abstracts must be submitted electronically to:
<http://www.ethnicstudies.org/conference.htm>

Select the "Submit Abstract" link to proceed to the online submission form. You must select a user ID and password for security purposes. Please retain this information as you will need it again to access the online membership & conference registration forms, which will be available shortly.

Student Essay Winner: Phillip G. Davies

Graduate Student Paper Award March 2007

In March 2007 at the 35th annual conference of NAES, the Phillip G. Davies Graduate Student Paper Award was given to Carolyn Sattin, a Ph.D candidate at New York University. Ms. Sattin's paper entitled "Definitions of Parent Involvement in the Construction of a Cultural-Deficit Myth" explores the value of education in Mexican culture and the similarities and differences in Mexican and American culture as to what constitutes parental involvement. She discusses the problems of American educators who lack adequate knowledge and understanding of Mexican society and suggests policy reforms and strategies that will aid school personnel in improving better awareness and recognition of Mexican culturally defined conceptions of parent involvement. The graduate student paper award carries with it a $200 prize and is awarded at the Graduate Student Luncheon.

Congratulations and Best Wishes!

NAES would like to congratulate National Office staffer, Josefina Magaña, on her recent graduation from Western Washington University. Josefina has worked for NAES for two years and many may remember her from the San Francisco conference. She has earned a B.A. in Sociology and plans to work and travel a bit before pursuing her graduate school options. Josefina received a Language Assistantship through the Spanish Ministry of Education and Science and will leave this fall to spend a year teaching English at a secondary school in San Fernando, Cadiz. Josefina has been instrumental in the organization and preparation for the San Francisco and New Paltz conferences, as well as the journal and newsletter mailings and many other important NAES projects. We wish her the best of luck in the future and hearty congratulations on reaching this important milestone!

Announcements and other Board News:

Office Manager Cecily Hazelrigg-Hernandez successfully completed the Washington State Bar examination last winter, was admitted to the Washington State Bar Association and sworn in at the Whatcom County Superior Court in Bellingham, Washington last June. She will begin practicing in the area of immigration law on a limited basis.

Cecily Hazelrigg-Hernandez also received an adjunct appointment to Fairhaven College at Western Washington University where she teaches cultural studies. Despite these new career developments, Cecily will stay in her position with NAES for the foreseeable future and hopes to see everyone at the Atlanta conference next spring.

Dr. Maythee Rojas received tenure and was promoted to associate professor of Women's Studies at California State University, Long Beach. She was also awarded a sabbatical during Fall 2007 to work on her book in progress, Following the Flesh: Sexual Transgressions in Chicana Literature.

Dr. Rojas was interviewed by American History Magazine on her work on Josefa Loaiza, the only woman ever hanged in California. The interview will appear in the magazine's October issue.

Dr. Pat Grizzle-Hurling published \(Un\)Becoming Black: The Myth of Race by Pearson Custom Publishing and is available in the Matador Bookstore at CSUN.

Linda Delgado presented "Puerto Ricans in NYC, 1917 to Ken Burns!" for the Teach America Series sponsored by the UFT and Chancellor of NYC, Joe Klein. This is a professional development series for NYC teachers with Masters degrees.

Linda Delgado will also have a review of Pioneros Puertorriqueños en Nueva York, 1917- 1947 by Joaquín Colón López (Introduction by Edwin Karli Padilla Aponte. Arte Público, TX, 2002) published in CENTRO: Journal of the Center for Puerto Rican Studies, vol. 19, no. 2, 2007.

Dr. Harriet Ottenheimer has been named Secretary/Treasurer for the Central States Anthropological Society 2007-2009.

Former board member Dr. David Goldstein-Shirley has edited and published Complicating Constructions: Race, Ethnicity, and Hybridity in American Texts along with Audrey B. Thacker. (University of Washington Press, American Ethnic and Cultural Studies, 2007.)

Dr. Goldstein-Shirley was also presented with a Distinguished Teacher Award for 2007.

Book Review Submissions for the Ethnic Studies

Review: Our intent is to publish critical evaluations not exceeding 500 words. Reviews exceeding the word limit may be edited to conform to our space requirements. Reviews must be typed or printed-out, double-spaced throughout. Please provide bibliographical information first, including Author(s). Complete Title Italicized or Underlined. Series or edition where applicable. (City: Publisher, year). Number of pages (e.g., xi, 295 pp.), price and format (e.g. cloth or paper) followed by reviewer's name and affiliation. A sample can be found on the NAES website.

Summaries alone are inadequate. We are striving for critical rather than descriptive analysis. Consequently, we ask you to discuss the major accomplishments and shortcomings of the work and indicate the presence or lack of notes, indexes, maps, and other data. In keeping with NAES focus, the most important criterion we expect reviewers to use in evaluating a given title is how it relates or fails to relate to the ethnic experience. If you cite passages from the book, please include page numbers in parentheses. If you cite other books, please provide full references for them at the end of your review. Please submit as a word document or rich text.

Ethnic Studies Review (ESR) is a multi-disciplinary international journal devoted to the study of ethnicity, ethnic groups and their cultures, and intergroup relations. The journal is published by the National Association for Ethnic Studies for its individual members and subscribing libraries and institutions. NAES is a member of the Council of Editors of Learned Journals.

Finding Ethnic Studies Review on the Database

Ethnic News Watch: Be sure to go to the Advanced Search page in Ethnic Newswatch. This means that after you select "English" versus "Spanish" at the introductory page you'll be presented with the 'advanced search' page. In the first search box type in 'Ethnic Studies Review' and from the drop down menu (which is defaults to "citation and document text" select "publication title" and click on the 'search' button. Your results page should give you 72 citations.

Policy Regarding ER Manuscript Submission:

Manuscripts must be double spaced, using ten characters per inch. Include with each submission a separate title page which provides the following information: manuscript title, full name of author, professional title, full address, telephone, FAX, and email. Manuscripts must be submitted with three hard copies and a 3.5" Windows compatible diskette in Microsoft Word or Rich Text Format, along with a 100 word abstract and a 50 word biographical statement. In addition to submitting papers on diskettes, manuscripts may also be submitted on rewriteable CDs or DVDs.

Paper and article submissions for ETHNIC STUDIES REVIEW should be sent to:

The Phillips G. Davies
Graduate Student Paper Award

An annual competition, this award was named for the late Phillips G. Davies in 1999 to commemorate the long-term contributions of Dr. Davies to the interdisciplinary field of Ethnic Studies, as well as to the National Association for Ethnic Studies. The award carries a stipend of two hundred dollars and is presented at the annual meeting to the best graduate student paper on ethnic studies presented at the conference and submitted for the competition.

Award-winning papers are automatically considered for publication in Ethnic Studies Review, the NAES journal. Papers are judged on the basis of originality, content, and creativity. NAES reserves the right not to make any awards in any given year, if no papers meet the expectations for quality. Please note - only participants delivering papers at the annual conference are eligible for the award, and they must submit their entire 10-12 page conference paper for this contest. All entries must be submitted by February 15, 2008. Send your paper in electronic form to Connie Jacobs at cajacobs@frontier.net.

The Cortland Auser
Undergraduate Student Paper Award

An annual competition in memory of Dr. Cortland Auser, the NAES Undergraduate Student Paper award carries a stipend of two hundred dollars and is presented at the annual meeting to the best undergraduate student paper on ethnic studies submitted for the competition. The competition rules are announced in the early Fall of each year and the deadline for paper submissions is generally in early January.

Award-winning papers are automatically considered for publication in Ethnic Studies Review, the NAES journal. Papers are judged on the basis of originality, content, and creativity. NAES reserves the right not to make any awards in any given year, if no papers meet the expectations for quality. Please note - only participants

More Announcements:

Nominations/Elections

As some of you may have noticed, elections for the open positions on the Board of Directors were not held this Spring, as in years past. NAES Vice President, Dr. Ashton Welch, oversees elections and will hold elections early in the Fall term when most of our members are back on campus. The nomination period has passed and there are a few great candidates for each open position, so it should be an exciting election. Ballots will be mailed to you in the upcoming weeks. Election results will be announced via a special mailer from the National Office. If you have any questions about the elections process, please contact Dr. Welch at awelch@creighton.edu

Board of Directors Meeting

The NAES Board of Directors will meet at the National Office host campus, Western Washington University, on October 26 and 27. The main focus of the meeting will be the upcoming Atlanta conference.

2008 OAH HUGGINS-QUARLES AWARD

Named for Benjamin Quarles and Nathan Huggins, two outstanding historians of the African American past, the Huggins-Quarles Award is given annually to one or two graduate students of color at the dissertation research stage of their Ph.D. program.

To apply for a $1,000 award ($2,000 if only one is awarded), the student should submit a five-page dissertation proposal (which should include a definition of the project, an explanation of the project's significance and contribution to the field, and a description of the most important primary sources), along with a one-page itemized budget explaining travel and research plans.

Each application must be accompanied by a letter from the dissertation adviser attesting to the student's status and the ways in which the Huggins-Quarles Award will facilitate the completion of the dissertation project. Please also include email addresses for both the applicant and the adviser, if available.

One complete copy of each application (including cover letter, abstract, budget, and reference letter), clearly labeled "2008 Huggins-Quarles Award Entry," must be mailed to each member of the Committee on the Status of African American, Latino/a, Asian American, and Native American Historians (ALANA) and ALANA History listed below and received by December 1, 2007. The committee will evaluate the applications and announce the award by the 2008 annual meeting of the OAH, to be held in New York, New York, March 28-31.

2008 OAH LERNER-SCOTT DISSERTATION PRIZE

The Lerner-Scott Dissertation Prize was given for the first time in 1992 for the best doctoral dissertation in U.S. women's history. The prize is named for Gerda Lerner and Anne Firor Scott, both pioneers in women's history and past presidents of the Organization of American Historians. A dissertation must be completed during the period July 1, 2006 through June 30, 2007 to be eligible for the 2008 Lerner-Scott Dissertation Prize. Each application must contain a letter of support from a faculty member at the degree-granting institution, along with an abstract, table of contents and sample chapter from the dissertation. Please also include email addresses for both the applicant and the adviser, if available. One complete copy of each entry must be received by each member of the prize committee by October 1, 2007. Finalists will be asked to submit a complete copy of the dissertation at a later date. The winner of the prize will receive $1,000. The prize will be presented at the 2008 annual meeting of the OAH in New York, New York, March 28-31. ## ADVERTISING WITH NAES

Web Announcements:

These announcements are limited to those relating to job, scholarship, fellowship, or internship opportunities. There is no charge for posting scholarship or fellowship ads. There is a requirement, though, that the ad be related to ethnic studies (i.e. no ads for positions in the chemistry department, unless there is a cross-appointment with or specialization in ethnic studies). The one time charge for posting employment or internship ads is $200. This fee includes a listing on our "opportunities" page online, unlimited ad length and will continue until the close date for the position. If you are interested in this posting direct to the NAES website, please email your announcement copy to naes@wwu.edu and include the billing contact name and address. An invoice will be sent, along with confirmation that your ad is up on the site.

There is also a free option for posting any of the above. Simply register as a user of the NAES Bulletin Board (select a username and password) and post your ad/announcement on the appropriate discussion thread. Please note that these announcements will only reach other registered members of the Bulletin Board.

Ethnic Reporter or Ethnic Studies Review Advertising:

We happily accept advertisements for various opportunities, publications, film releases, etc. (again, that are related to ethnic studies and relevant to our membership) in both of our publications. There are generally two issues each of the Ethnic Reporter (newsletter) and the Ethnic Studies Review (peer-reviewed, academic journal) published each year and sent to our entire membership and subscriber base. As it is not NAES policy to sell or rent our mailing list, purchasing ad space in our publications is a great way to contact to our membership.

The charges are as follows: $100 for a half page and $150 for a full page. Full color or black and white ads are available in the Ethnic Reporter. The Ethnic Studies Review will only print black and white ads. Ads are subject to the approval of the respective Editors of both publications. Ads should be emailed as camera ready copy to naes@wwu.edu with the billing contact name and address. An invoice will be sent shortly and you will also receive a copy of the publication when it is distributed. Check with the National Office (360-650-2349 or naes@wwu.edu) for print deadlines.

Advertising Through the Annual National Conference:

There are many advertising opportunities available through our Annual National Conference including, but not limited to, sponsorship of a speaker, event or registration packets or ads in the conference program. Program ads cost $125 for a full page or $75 for a half page. Insertion orders, with payment, must be received by early January and checks should be made out to NAES, Inc. Camera-ready copy must be received by late January. Please visit the Conference page for location, theme, dates, precise submission deadlines and other important conference information. Conference sponsorship or advertising of any kind is subject to the approval of the Conference Chair and NAES President. Contact the National Office (360-650-2349 or naes@wwu.edu) for conference advertising inquiries.
